Twelve solid cherry spindles cut from one board are molded to form a splayed back terminating in a unique upper crest, allowing the natural contrasting hues of the wood to show through, much like piano keys. The wide seat is carved to cradle the sitter and is attached to the tapered front legs using curved braces we call "knees." Unique half-lap joints attach the back spindles to the seat and provide both visual interest and enduring strength. Arm Chair has hand-polished cherry arms and struts that curve in to provide arm support.
